NASHVILLE SINGER SONGWRITER DAVID WILLS RELEASES NEW ALBUM

"Country music is the greatest thing in the world," declares country singing sensation David Wills, a Nashville area native.

Wills has designated November for his first album release that has been filled with re-recorded versions of "There's A Song On The Jukebox" and "Barrooms To Bedrooms" that really modernizes the two great songs without taking away from their charm and characteristic styles. The album is titled "The Singer The Songwriter" and does include "Paper Thin Walls," Wills released in 1988 on Epic Records, "You're The Last Thing I Needed Tonight" and "Wild Horses."

Wills charted twenty-one songs on country Billboard and recorded three country albums between 1974 and 1988. As a songwriter, he penned hit songs for stars like George Strait, John Schneider, Keith Whitley, John Michael Montgomery, Patty Loveless, Sawyer Brown, and Garth Brooks.

He and Bill Shore co-wrote "Wild Horses" for Brooks' "No Fences" album in 1990, which was certified for eighteen-million copies shipped in the United States. Ten years later, it was released as a single and went to number seven on the Billboard Hot Country Singles and Tracks and the sales together totaled twenty-three million.

With more than 30 million copies of his songs sold, Wills continues to be a songwriting sensation. The singer songwriter worked for Charley Pride Music Group for more than four decades.

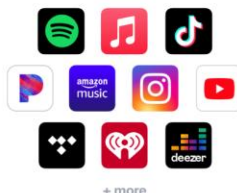

He co-wrote with Mevis, "If You Thinking You Want A Stranger" for George Strait that peaked at number 3 in 1982. He wrote "Leona" for Sawyer Brown, "Charlotte's In North Carolina" for Keith Whitley, "You're The Last Think I Needed Tonight" for John Schneider and "Wild Horses." He also wrote "Holding Out Hope To You" for Michael English that won Inspirational Recorded Song of the year at the 1994 Dove Awards.

"I have never met a more talented singer or songwriter in my life," claimed Fricks, an executive with Tugalo Records, "it will be easy to understand why this album will resonate with country music fans around the world."

The best way to describe the two album project is that there will be a little something for everyone!

"It's never too late to have fun," claimed Wills.
